

Please stop and rethink all of this ridiculous fining and attempts to clean up America. Starting with TV is asinine, you need to focus on education and funding for afterschool programs.

And people who are outraged by Oprah's 3/18 episode where she discussed "tossed salad" are in for a shocker! Things like this happens at school, they need to sit down with their kids and explain to them what's appropriate and what's not appropriate.

Why don't you guys take all the money from the fines you are applying and make a pamphlet that explains to parents how to censor their children's viewing? You can pass it out to schools, community centers and places that sell TV. Then you can take the extra funds, and get volunteers to teach parents on parent night how to monitor their children's viewings. Do you have someone there who thinks of these things? Or do you just think of ways to piss everyone off all the time.

And who are the people that write to you all? Are they based in the Bible Belt, Orange County? top 2% ??? What is going on!!!!!!?
